

Continuum

Understanding the Multi-Generational Workforce

The millennium marks the first time that four different generations will be in the workforce at the same time. This workshop focuses on increasing the understanding of some of the life events that have impacted each of the four generations; WWII, Baby Boomers, X Generation and Y Generation. Participants will be encouraged to learn more about other generations communication styles and workplace expectations to increase cooperative working relationships.