The Power of Who

Traditional networking isn't working anymore!

What if you were told you've been given key relationships in your life that have been specifically placed there to help you in ways you never imagined? Would you believe that those people are not just happenstance acquaintances, but are strategic relationships meant to help you find that place in your life you have always dreamed about? And, as these relationships are nurtured over time, you will in turn have the chance to affect their lives as well. Interested in learning more?

This interactive, hands-on workshop is based on the concept identified by Bob Beaudine in his book, "The Power of Who" and is designed to help you use the resources you already have to help reach your goals.

PRESENTER: TAMI DAMIAN
