THE LEADERSHIP PARADIGM: SHIFTING YOUR PERSPECTIVE

When we think we have a good thing going, it's difficult to think change is necessary. But it is. We are always evolving and as leaders, we especially need to embrace change- change within our workload, change within our team dynamics, and everything else in between. Let's look at our own perspectives and identify what's helpful and what's getting in our way of being an effective leader. In this session we will identify and explore perspectives for building successful teams and accountable people.
